ACTION TAKEN ON CUT RULE; PROPOSALS MADE TO FACULTY

Specific action has at last been taken on the cut rule. President Jim Lindsey has written a 3 page letter to Dr. Asael Murphy, chairman of the faculty committee, in which he has enumerated the objections and proposals of the student body to the present cut rule.

Physical Presence

Objections, stated in 4 points, include the failure of the faculty to regard students as adults and grading based, to a considerable extent, upon the physical presence of students in classrooms.

Lack of Uniformity

Enforcement of the present cut rule, stated in point 3, is also objectionable because of the "utter lack of uniformity."

Proposals listed to rectify these objections are the abolishment of grading based solely on physical presence in the classroom. Freshman on probation, however, having a grade point of less than 1.0, would be subject to the regulations as they now stand.

Uniform enforcement of a cut rule throughout the college was the last recommendation made.

Twenty Vets Enrolled

Twenty ex-servicemen are enrolled at State this semester, 12 of them under the "GI Bill of Rights" or Public Bill No. 16, which underwrites college expenses.

Concert Violinist To Be Presented By Pan American League

As part of its extensive cultural program, the Pan American League will present Samuel Marti, Mexico's outstanding concert violinist on his first appearance in Northern California, this evening at the Century Club.

The program will include the concert "America" by Kostakowsky, "Sonata" by Cesar Franck, and other lesser numbers.

Samuel Marti is founder of the Yucatan Symphony and was for years its director. He is a graduate of the Bush Conservatory of Music in Chicago, and studied for an extended period with Leopold Ouer in New York, as well as in Madrid and Paris. In 1940, "Conciertos Marti" was organized with the goal of inter-changing young artists between Mexico and the United States. Before the war, he had introduced to Mexican audiences the talented North American pianist, Gunhild Nilsson, who will accompany him on Friday evening.

Tickets to tonight's performance may be obtained from any Pan American League member or by contacting Post Office Box 394. Student tickets are fifty cents, and adult tickets are one dollar.

At its meeting on February 28, the League announces that it will have some interesting color-sound movies of South America in Room 208 of College Hall. All are invited to come.

SENIORS GOING INTO ACTION

Seniors gathered en masse Tuesday afternoon in Annex A to discuss and attempt to settle major problems confronting them during the traditional Senior Week.

The intelligentsia is headed this year by Fred Hanson, prexy of the Senior Class. "The main issue is to find a suitable valedictorian," said Fred. "Committees were appointed at this initial meeting in order to plan for the Senior Luncheon, the Senior Picnic and the Senior Pilgrimage."

Biggest event of the term will be the Senior Ball. Plans are being formulated as to the location, time and place of the activity. This class, though smaller than those of former years, shows signs of being the most active group of upper classmen. Many of the past and forgotten activities of the former senior classes will be revived this term, such as the celebrated Kiddie Party.

FRESHMAN RALLY SET FOR MONDAY

A freshman rally will be held in the Women's Gym Monday at noon for a still undisclosed purpose.

Frosh President Larry Odegard, stated that "All freshmen are expected to attend the meeting where they will find a pleasant surprise in store forr them."

STUDENT BODY CARD SALES END TODAY

With Student Body Card sales ending this week, all clubs are requested to submit lists of members who do not have cards to the Business Office. Students can not participate in the many college activities without a student body card.

NEED OF LIFE PURPOSE AND HOPE FOR PEACE KEYNOTE OF ASSEMBLY

Purposeful living was the keynote of the address by Dr. Alfred Fisk at the freshmen assembly last Wednesday, at the First Baptist Church. Speaking to new students, Dr. Fisk stressed the necessity of a life purpose or cause that will psychologically unite the individual.

Intelligence alone will not give great achievement, he said. There is needed purposiveness and persuasiveness to achieve.

Isle of Hope

Challenging new students to take part in a war torn world, Dr. Fisk said, "Although the world is black, with hate and destruction in the saddle, each of you can build a little isle of hope, a hope in a world that is seemingly without hope."

President Alexander C. Roberts, introducing Dr. Fisk, reflected upon the coming graduating class "who have completed their college years in a period of war." He addressed new students with the hope that the peace which will be made, will be made to last.

City of Peace

Reiterating Henry Wallace's comment on this being the century of the common man, he added that education will take its part in this.

"You will be living in a city of peace," he continued, referring to the conference to be held here April 25.

Musical Background

Musical background, in conjunction with a celebration of Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays, was supplied by the entire music department under the direction of Dr. William Knuth and Mr. Roy E. Freeburg. Selections from Morton Gould's "Amercian Salute" were played with the a capella choir singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Mr. Harold Hollingsworth, new faculty member, sang Stephen Foster's "Jeannie."

Officers Introduced

EX-STATER BOMBS HITLER'S HIDE-OUT

Former Stater, Lieutenant Joseph Lang, Jr., has won the honor of being one of the first Americans to bomb Hitler's hide-away, Berchtesgaden. This raid, which was carried out by 1500 bombers and a large escort of fighters, was one of the most daring aerial exploits of the war.

Lieutenant Lang, who pilots one of the Army's fastest fighter-planes, the P-37 Thunderbolt, attended State for two years, leaving this college in 1939.

Working at Sears and Roebuck until he entered the Army Air Corps in 1942, Lieutenant Lang was shipped overseas last November with a newly-organized fighter group.

Lieutenant Lang's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lang, Sr., live at La Honda, where his father is connected with the forestry service.

His wife, Bette, is living with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wells, at 1635 Eleventh Avenue.

Men Still Scarce; Now 118 on Campus

Little alleviation of State's critical manpower shortage is reflected in late registration figures issued by the Registrar's office.

A total of 929 regular and limited students are enrolled. Only 118 of these are men.

More than a score of the men are ex-servicemen, a dozen of these enrolled under the "GI Bill of Rights."

New students total 265.

HELP SHORTAGE IN FREDERIC BURK

Shortage of help has hit Frederic Burk, too, but the emergency is being met by a corps of student helpers, Mrs. Grace Leatherby, principal of the training school announced this week. Seventh and eighth grade girls have been recruited into the "Service in School" organization. The "Sissies" work as messengers and mailmen, and are in charge of the hot lunches that are served daily in the school.

BOARD APPROVES NEW MANAGER FOR GATER

Approval of Betty Hickman as a new associate business manager for Gater was made last Wednesday at a meeting of the Board of Publications.

Under new business, Mary McGrath, editor of Franciscan, asked that the position of associate editor of the year book be changed to managing editor. A vote was taken and the measure passed.

EX-STATERS TO LEAD EVERETT JUNIOR HIGH

James Dierke and Walter S. Nolan Jr., ex-Staters, were recently appointed principal and vice principal of Everett Junior High, respectively.

A graduate of State in August 1934, Dierke had previously held the position of vice principal at James Denman Junior High. Nolan, who received his degree in 1935, had been the head of the Physical Education Department at Aptos Junior High. Each had obtained a Master's at Stanford.

Both men had also been outstanding in college athletics, and since entering the field of education, have done much to promote sports in Bay Area schools.

GALA MUSIC FED FUN FEST TONIGHT AT 8

Commemorating Washington's birthday, the theme set by the Music Federation for their party this evening will be America. The doings get the go-ahead signal at 8 o'clock in Annex B9.

Admission to the event is twenty-five cents to student body card holders and thirty-five to those individuals minus the precious piece of cardboard. Fed cards will open the doors for their owners without the help of coins.

Guest Marines

Rita O'Neill, well-known student in the "Alley" who is in charge of the affair, announced that twenty-five Marines have been invited as guests of the Federation, and "Everyone's welcome whether they come drag or stag."

Sport clothes are strictly the order for wearing apparel in the hope that guests will be at ease when participating in the games that have been planned.

Dancing

Dancing will be to records unless the talented music students decide to hold a jam session later on in the evening, which is usually the case at Fed parties.

Then Food

Refreshments are to be provided under the direction of Mary Jane Morrow and Bob Martens. Julia DiGrazia, Helen Howen, and Angela Kostouros will handle the decorations.

When the final guest has found his way home, a committee headed by Hal Graubart will tend to the business of cleaning-up.

EDITORIAL

The flurry of protests from low freshmen concerning hazing by high freshmen is certainly justifiable. The majority of protests are not against wearing "dinks" or respecting upper classmen, but against the dictatorial attitude of a few who think that the frosh lack school spirit.

It is true that hazing is a part of the social activities of any college or university, but certainly not the kind that was exhibited in the Co-op when four or five low freshmen were compelled by one high freshman to play "ring-around-the-rosy" around the juke box.

As for school spirit, we have found that the freshmen class is usually the ONLY class with spirit. Witness the last class election in which sophomores, juniors and seniors ran for office uncontested!

And frankly, we'd like to know who authorized the high freshmen to do the hazing. This is an activity supposedly handled only by upper classmen and not a group who should themselves be hazed.

IRATE STUDENTS PROTEST AGAINST FROSH HAZING

Editors note: Hazing of incoming Freshmen has caused a great deal of controversy around campus. Protests have emerged from upper classmen as well as frosh. The following are two of the many letters that are swamping the Gater office.

As a new freshman, I wish to protest against the adolescent proceedings that are being carried on by a small group of sadistic students in the name of "college spirit."

Hazing at best is a practice that may be amusing for some for a short length of time. But to impose it upon serious minded students for four weeks is completely ridiculous. It places even the students who enjoy it under such a nervous tension that all their nervous energy is expended in worrying, rather than studying.

It has been said that hazing was discontinued some years ago because of the seriousness of the war. Is it to be assumed that the war is no longer serious?

This is a college. It is an institution of learning. It is not a playground and should not be treated as such.

ZITA FEDER

"A sad apple."

Dear Editor,

When I first came to State in the spring of 1944, I was greatly impressed by the evident maturity of the student body. I was also happy to see that though I was a low freshman, I was readily accepted by everybody and treated like any other student. There was no childish "hazing"; I was glad to see that State then was above such senseless action. While there was no school spirit in the "rah rah" sense, there was a deep loyalty and respect for State.

The "hazing" that has now arisen smells like an attempt to emulate college life as portrayed in the movies and the run-of-the-mill college. It is comparable to various adolescent customs which are performed because they're "the thing to do," with no rational reason behind them.

There is widespread resentment in State against the "high school crowd" so termed because they seem to think that they're still in high school, where they can play around to their heart's content. It is this group that has brought hazing to us. I am not against anybody's having fun on his own (even I do, believe it or not) but when they make the whole college their playground — whoa!

MEET YOUR FACULTY

George E. Harris, shown here adjusting an easel in the Art Department, is State's latest addition to the art faculty. Good-looking and capable, Mr. Harris brings a wealth of experience in oils, watercolors and graphics. He has exhibited in many sections of the country.

Mr. Harris likes the progressive attitude about the college. He himself is a modernist in art.

"It's a pleasure to teach where the students and faculty are progressive and interested in the world around them," he said.

Mr. Harris, 32, has taught at Stanford and the San Francisco Museum of Art in the Civic Center. He lives in Sausalito.

Last night I came upon our dime,
Tarnished with old memories,
A lover's symbol to us once,
When you filled my reveries.

I held it cupped within my hands,
Entranced by all it had meant.
But today, my Love, that coin,
Like our romance, is spent!

Cussing, plain and fancy, came from a parked auto. A policeman hurried up and wanted to know what all of the fuss was about.

"Shome sho-an-shoe shtole my steering wheel," complained the woozy motorist.

"Take it easy," admonished the cop, "just get up here in the front seat where you belong."

What of State's Youth After the War?

Will the State College boys who broke off their education to enter the service come back a tough, gloomy lot? Many people think the war will have such an effect on them, but Mutual Radio Correspondent Royal Arch Gunnison, broadcasting from Manila this week, had a different opinion.

He thinks the American G.I.s fighting in the Pacific will come back saner, wiser and with a much deeper appreciation of what life really is.

"Many people think that the G.I.s will be gloomy, that they'll be gangsters, that they'll never fit in the American way of life," said Gunnison, "but from what I have observed, this will not be the case at all.

"They are ruthless in destroying the Jap. Yet, when we came into Manila and found the city a growing shambles, these sons and brothers and husbands and sweethearts of yours fought like devils on one hand—and then turned aside between mortar and machinegun bursts to take gentle care of the wounded and burned Filipino civilians and to answer questions of Filipino mothers, even to carry tiny babes out of blazing fires back to safety.

"These are your rough, tough Americans. The contrast between the open friendliness of the American soldier and that Jap bestiality is bewildering to the native Filipinos."

LIFE LINES

By BONNIE HARRIS

Hello, Faithful Ones! Just as was stated at the end of last weeks' column and as Bob Hope would put it, Irium again. This week was a good one. People not only made themselves ridiculous, they were conspicuous about it. And soon the whole Gater reading world will know it.

Terrye Flax is still working. The old adage, "If at first you don't succeed . . . etc.," cretainly applies. The name of the gentleman will remain unmentioned. There is another adage, "Money Talks."

That stuff they sell in drug stores, bearing the chemical name of H2 O2, has certainly gone to Rene Laboure's head, literally.

The Society for the Furtherance of Jazz in the Western Hemisphere is going ahead by leaps and bounds. They even have a club house now. If you are interested talk to Lillian Mendelson or Harriet Brown. Tell 'em Bon sent you.

Where is Cecil Levin these days?

After days of frantic searching and questioning it has been discovered that John Harvey has left State for the less confining walls of Cal.

Warning: Patty Ryan, the next time you go into the Book Store be sure you know the difference between a syllabus and an esophogus.

Don't expect too much from the feature page from now on. Feature editor Naomi Jeffries just suffered the loss of a wisdom tooth. Get it, ha?

Helen Blount is one of the most co-operative of the new freshmen. She will kneel in abject apology, carry a tray, smile, in fact, do anything to please an upper classman.

Ex-Stater Howie Flora, now in the Navy, was a visitor this week.

Scoop!!! The Co-op sold cigarettes Tuesday afternoon between 2:05 and 2:15. Four, as yet unidentified frosh, were injured in the rush.

Eleanor Gigli, familiarly known as "The Circulator," had a wonderful time at Marion Roberts' party the other night. "Drinkin' Rum and Coca Cola."

Coming from that same party certain people had a most entertaining street car ride.

To end on a note of corn, "Buy Bye, Buy Bonds."

STATE IN TWIN WINS OVER HUMBOLDT

From the Bench

By Ed Osorio

Students and faculty alike are still talking about the Freshman Assembly that was held at the First Baptist Church last Wednesday afternoon.

No doubt one of the major reasons for the undisputed success of this function was its to-the-point brevity.

Under the able chairmanship of Vin O'Leary, the program started on time and was carried out with clock-like precision.

"The Battle Cry of the Republic," the finale of the combined College Orchestra and Choir, will no doubt ring in students' ears for a long time to come. We heartily congratulate the splendid baton-work of Dr. William Knuth and Mr. Roy E. Freeburg, who were responsible for this inspiring musical performance. It is seldom that students are given the privilege of hearing such fine musical talent.

Dr. Alexander C. Roberts' message of welcome was not only heart-warming and sincere, but also carried a note of profound realism. A message that in-coming freshman will not easily forget.

Dr. Alfred G. Fisk's discourse on "Life, Its Purpose" gave the brilliant gentleman an opportunity to display his deep insight into human affair.

In unstilted language, Dr. Fisk laid befor the students a challenge. He asked them to express, in a sentence, their purpose in life.

"Why are you here? There is more than just a biological reason," Dr. Fisk explained. "It is up to you to integrate your conflicting drives into one, soul-consuming purpose."

With numerous illustrations and anecdotes, Dr. Fisk showed the large gathering that a purpose in life was not only commendable but vital. On this thought-provoking note, Dr. Fisk concluded amid loud applause.

The brilliant M.C. work of Vin O'Leary and the pointed talk of Student Body President Jim Lindsey, rounded off this precedent-setting program.

Today's column is designed to make that vast army of rugged individualists who stayed away from last week's basketball games sorry that they did. You will all please cry in your milk shakes as you read this.

Department of utterly utter confusion: Ed Murray is a very broad minded person. He doesn't care whose basket he shoots at. Luckily, he missed when he shot at Lincoln's in Saturday night's J.V. game. . . . We don't know if Frank Hutchinson has been undergoing illusions of grandeur, but when he reported to the score-keeper before going into Friday's varsity tiff, he blurbed, "Hanson in for Hutchinson."

Jean Smith, chief enthusiasm inducer, had a really wonderful time playing with the public address system, doing imitations and carrying on personal conversations. We must remember to get her one of her own for Christmas.

Home town stuff: Humboldt's varsity jackets were obviously contributed by ye local Chamber of Commerce. They were branded with "Humboldt—in the Redwood Empire."

State's new Freshmen either don't scare easily or got picked up by the Park Station's police for looking like a bunch of juvenile delinquents. At any rate, no more than a pitiful handful (very pitiful) made an appearance at Kezar.

A number of very nosey individuals have asked us to continue the adventures of Audrey and John of last week's bit. Girls! Is nothing sacred?

No money, no racket, no skill is required for W.A.A. badminton. Just come for the enjoyment of playing and doing something worthwhile on Thursday noons to the gym. We supply the racket, provide plenty of opportunity for you to show your hidden talents and fill in your lunch hour with healthful recreation. To date twenty-two girls have signed up for badminton. In two more weeks a badminton manager will be chosen to organize tournaments. Coming next Thursday, aren't you?

Basketball: W.A.A. basketball had its second practice meet Monday noon. The sophomores played the high freshmen in a practice game, beating them 24 to 2. Gloria Gamba, a P.E. major, sank the most baskets for the sophs. The seniors played the low freshmen, hammering out a 25 to 9 victory over them

As yet class teams for the purpose of an inter-class tournament haven't been chosen. When class managers are elected and teams organized, inter-class competition will be on its way.

Phi Epsilon Gamma: At a meeting held last Wednesday, plans for the semester were drawn up. It was decided that there will be two initiations for the new P.E. minors and majors entering the club. One will be an informal initiation to be held Monday, March 19; the other will be at a formal dinner to be held March 21.

Chairmen for the club's standing committees were chosen as follows: membership, Mary Falbo and Gloria Gamba; program, Doris Hickenbottom; publicity, Betty Petrakis; history, Betty Huff and professional standards, Charlotte Plumb.

P.E. Major Meets Rival: Not one, but two black eyes are temporarily hampering Dorothy Cook's sweet appearance. You see it was like this — Dot was standing side of a tennis net; seeing that the net was unusually low she tried to jump it but fell flat on her face blackening both eyes. Next time crawl under the net, Dorothy.

GATORS OVERWHELM HUMBOLDT, 55-22, 48-31

By ED OSORIO

Recapturing the vigor displayed earlier in the season, the State Varsity wrote a blazing "finis" to the basketball season, last week-end, piling up twin victories over Humboldt State, with scores of 55-22 and 48-31.

The games, played Friday and Saturday evenings at Kezar Pavillion, were the most spectacular and fast-moving tilts of the season.

Friday night the boys from Buchanan Hill walked away with the game. The fast playing of Hal Fox and Grove Mohr, the brilliant defensive work of Fred Hanson, and the keen-eyed accuracy of Norb Ferreria and Vic Giannini proved to be more than the boys from the tall timber could handle.

Early Lead

Three minutes after the opening gun, State gained a ten point advantage over the somewhat dazed Humboldt Varsity. Although the game simmered down after this blazing opening, the Gators managed to keep their opponents in a constant state of anxiety.

Time and time again Humboldt was near pay dirt only to be swished away from it by Mohr, Fox or Hanson. Time and time again Humboldt, unable to get in close to the basket, risked long shots only to miss by inches.

At half-time, the Gators were leading by a bare 18-12, yet everyone was convinced of the impending State victory. Although Humboldt had chalked up twelve digits, all of these with the exception of a couple of field goals, were from free throws.

Second Half Massacre

The Gators, who had drawn blood in the first half, turned the final session into a full-dress massacre. With Vic Giannini leading the scoring orgy, the State boys piled up more than twice as many points as they had in the first round.

Again Mohr, Hanson and Fox kept the Humboldters out of basket range, although once in a while a Redwooder would break through on a fake.

In the second half, Hanson, who was playing his last game for State, displayed some really fine ball. He was everywhere, intercepting passes and doing some fine rebounding.

Doubtlessly the most exciting moment of the second half came just before the final gun. With ten seconds left to play, Don Pagani, accompanied by Jack Pilieri, raced down the court to plunk the ball through the hoop, adding two more points to State's already overwhelming score.

Vic Giannini, popular new comer, was high point man with a total of 21 points.

It is the consensus of opinion that Saturday night's game was the most exciting tilt of the entire season.

Unlike Friday night's meet, the Humboldt Varsity played a tighter game, and more than once caused the Gators a tense moment.

The State Varsity, opening with the same combo that devastated the Redwoods the night before, quickened the killing pace that they had set previously.

Coming out slugging, the Staters, with the aid of Mohr and Ferreria, sank a total of eight field goals in the first few minutes of the tilt.

Ferreria's pivot shots and Hanson's control of the backboard coupled with Mohr's roving defense work, spelled doom for the white-clad invaders, early in the first half.

Both teams had blood in their eyes, and the ball exchanged hands so often, that referees, Eisan and Didricksen had a hard time keeping track of the ball.

Rougher and Rougher

As the seconds of the first half ticked away, the game took on more and more the appearance of a mob fight; more than once Humboldters collided with Staters, both falling not too softly on the hardwood.

At half-time State had extracted 26 digits from the beleaguered Humboldt squad, leaving them dragging with a paltry 11.

The second half of the casaba carnival proved to be more hair-raising than the first. The Gator's defense proved to be too much for the boys from the woods. The Humboldters tried desperately to score, but it was the same old story; they couldn't get near enough to the bucket to effectively change the score.

With the sands of time running out on them, the invaders made a futile comeback, scoring eight points just before bang time.

High point honors go to Norb Ferreria, who stacked up 14 points.

Former Stater Will Present Color Ski Film Wednesday

Dr. Frank Howard, State alumus and president of the California Ski Association, will present a colored motion picture, "Focus on Skis," next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in Frederic Burk auditorium. The film, said to be packed with excitement and beauty, shows the championship ski tournaments in New England, Alta, Yosemite, Donner Summit, Mount Lassen, and Sun Valley. Dr. Howard will provide a running commentary of the picture. The program is sponsored by the Women's Physical Education department.

LAURA THOMSON TO SPEAK FOR ART FED

Laura Thomson wil be guest speaker at the Art Federation meeting to be held February 28, in the Activities room.

Officers for the federation were elected at a recent meeting. They are Mary Anne Nunes, president; Jacqueline Yeznag, vice president; Clara Grant, secretary, and Eda Freggiaro, treasurer and historian.

NEWSLETTER REVISED UNDER DIRECTION OF CAVE, ELLSWORTH

NEWSLETTER, the official organ of the Association of California State College Instructors, has been revised by Dr. Floyd Cave under the editorship of Mrs. Blanche Ellsworth, of the English department.

The purpose of the publication, which is sent to faculty members of the six State Colleges, is to keep the six chapters informed on bills coming before State legislature.

In the February issue Dr. Cave, legislative chairman of the State Committe of A:C.S.C.I., has a report of salary increases requested by State College instructors. The A. C. S. C. I. case was presented by Dr. Bird of Fresno to Dr. Walter Dexter, Superintendent of Public Instruction and State Director of Education, at Sacramento, January 11.

Dr. Bird conveyed the impression that he felt the State Colleges have been underestimated in the past and that it was time for them to assume their rightful place among the leaders of collegiate education in the country; that college executives had been far too modest in their requests for funds to provide adequately for their work in the past, and that further requests should be on a scale, not only comparable with the value of their service to the state, but with those of other departments of the state government.

Dr. Dexter was willing to support the case after studying it, and the committee was much encouraged. Dr. Bird was given the task of drawing up a more inclusive salary schedule.

ALPHA OMEGA PLANS PLEDGE SOCIAL; DINNER

Released this week, the Alpha Omega calendar of events shows many activities planned for this term.

According to Florence Lindsey, publicity chairman, the first of the social events will be a pledge social, followed by the formal initiation and dinner. Later events will include the Mother's Day breakfast and a farewell picnic for graduating members. Service activities include helping in the Co-op, one hour of Red Cross work a week for each member, and editing the Student Newsletter.

DELTA SIGMA ELECTS OFFICERS; PLANS DEBATE

Delta Sigma elected new officers this week. They are Caroline Nahman, president; Bob Lamberson, vice-president; Bonnie Harris, secretary; Marion Roberts, treasurer, and Bill Marrinan, debate manager. New tournament directors are Don Pagini and Hy Bik.

The debate tourney will be held in the fall instead of semi-annually as in the past. "Speech activities will be centered among the various adjoining colleges," remarked Caroline Nahman, "and it is planned to have round table discussions on pertinent issues."

Pledge invitations will be out March 5.

BIB 'n TUCKER HOLD PLEDGE TEA

Heading the list of activities for Bib 'n Tucker this semester, a pledge tea will be held in the Activities Room, next Wednesday, February 28, from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m., announced Meta Johnsen, president of the organization. The semi-annual tea is to acquaint prospective members with the purposes of the club and with its members.

New officers were elected at a recent meeting of the organization. They are Meta Johnson, president; Ruth Boriolo, vice president; Jean Keller, recording secretary; Claire Peck, corresponding secretary; Betty Jennings, treasurer, and Laura Carra, historian.

The members will initiate the pledges chosen at a picnic to be given March 11.

FILMS ON MEXICO, HAITI AND COLOMBIA TO BE SHOWN TUESDAY

Motion pictures viewing Mexico, the West Indies and northern South America will be shown next Tuesday. These are the second of a series presented under the auspices of the office of Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs.

The films, shown in conjunction with Mr. Hugh C. Baker's History 8B class and sponsored by Alpha Mu Gamma, are "Introduction to Haiti," "Colombia, Crossroads of America," and "Yucatan."

All students are invited to attend. The first showing is scheduled at 11:50 in room 208, College Hall, and the second at 1:40 in room 209.

"Introduction to Haiti," filmed in technicolor, views the historic buildings, cities and peoples of the island. The second film depicts the industries of oil, coffee and minerals in Colombia. Ruins of Maya civilization are shown in "Yucatan," narrated by Charles Bickford.

BOOKS ON MARRIAGE POPULAR WITH STUDENTS

Marriage books are among those most often requested at the library loan desk, according to Ruth MacGregor, librarian. The popularity of books that discuss problems in marriage is partially due to the bibliography used in Sociology 65, which deals with marriage adjustment, Miss MacGregor said.

Other books that are in great demand are those required for biological science, social science and education courses.
